The image displays a comprehensive collection of Hong Kong postage stamps, organized into several horizontal rows. The stamps are diverse in their themes and denominations:

- Top Row: Includes a blue stamp commemorating the founding of Hong Kong in 1841 ($1), a yellow stamp featuring Queen Elizabeth II (50c), a green stamp with a portrait of Queen Elizabeth II ($1.30), and a red cross centenary stamp (1863-1963) valued at $1.30.
- Second Row: A series of ten small stamps, each featuring a different colored profile of Queen Elizabeth II, with denominations ranging from 10c to 1.30.
- Third Row: Features larger stamps, including one with a ship, one with a building, one with a flower, one with a rooster, one with a tiger, and one with a lion.
- Fourth Row: Contains stamps with a silver jubilee theme ($2), a couple's portrait (50c), a bird (65c), a butterfly ($1.30), and a landscape ($1).
- Fifth Row: Shows stamps with a coat of arms ($1), a horse ($1), and a building ($1.30).
- Sixth Row: Includes a steamship ($1.30), a dragon ($1.30), a dog ($1.30), and a horse ($1.30).
- Seventh Row: Displays stamps with a bull ($1.30), a lion ($1), two circular stamps ($1.30), and a royal visit commemorative stamp ($1.30).

The stamps are arranged in a way that shows their variety and historical significance, reflecting the postal history of Hong Kong from its early years as a colony to its later development.
