The Easter Voyage of St. Brelade relates to the Saint's identification, by the Abbé Manet, with St. Breladre of Brittany and St. Brendan of Ireland and the legend of how, searching in a tiny leather boat for the Blessed Isles and wishing to celebrate Easter, he and his monks landed on an island which miraculously appeared. Completing the day's worship, they re-embarked, whereupon the island, after all a great fish, swam beneath the waves.
